PLASTIC SURGERY AT 16?!

Kylie's Dramatic

Oh no! Did Kylie
Jenner go under the knife to look more like her sisters?

When Kylie Jenner posted a glammed-up selfie on Instagram recently, fans couldn't believe their eyes. "She's messed with her eyebrows, nose and who knows what else!" wrote one blog commenter. "Why is Kylie trying to look like Kim?" another asked of the 16-year-old, who's starting to appear more like her famous 33-year-old sister than the refreshingly normal youngest sibling from Keeping Up With the Kardashians.

Kylie might be relying on more than just makeup tricks, according to LA-based plastic surgeon Dr. William Bruno. "Her face has changed," the doctor says. "Considering the work her sisters have had, I wouldn't be surprised if she got an early start."

Insiders agree: The changes were inevitable. "She felt like the ugly duckling," a source says of Kylie, who's often compared to her model sister, Kendall, 18. Plus, adds the source, "Kris encourages plastic surgery."

But any immediate satisfaction from altering her appearance could actually hurt Kylie down the line. Surgical procedures aren't advised on kids under 18 because of "potential growth spurts" and, warns NYC-based plastic surgeon Dr. Robert Guida, "serious issues with self-esteem."

ALTERED BROWS

Kylie's thicker, more arched brows could be makeup magic - "the shape is more accentuated and they look fuller," says celebrity eyebrow specialist Elke Von Freudenberg - or they could mean "Botox injections in the forehead," says Dr. Bruno.

NEW NOSE

"It appears that she had a rhinoplasty, giving her a narrower bridge and tip," says Dr. Guida of Kylie's slimmed-down schnoz.

THICKER LIPS

"Both her upper and lower lips appear fuller, which may be due to an injectable filler, like Juvederm," says Dr. Bruno.

Get a Boob
Job, Too?

Kylie's new look isn't limited to her face. Dr. Bruno notes that an increased fullness in Kylie's chest "could be due to implants."

Did They Go to Extremes as Teens?

BRIT GOT A BOOST

A pal told Rolling Stone that Britney Spears got implants as a teen, but removed them when she grew naturally. Britney denied getting implants.

ALI'S NOSE SHRANK

At 17, Lindsay Lohan's model sister Ali debuted a smaller nose; her rep says growing up "changed her face."

COURTNEY AMPED UP

In the first of what looks like many changes, reality star Courtney Stodden upped her cups at 18 to DDs.
